2M Architecture -- Formerly Marc Lindsell Architecture --
Continues to be Inspired by Transformative Projects

Marc Lindsell is pleased to announce that Mark Tetrault has become a full partner in the firm 2M Architecture (formerly Marc Lindsell Architecture). The award-winning firm will continue to be inspired by transformative projects that search for clear and meaningful architectural solutions to clients' aspirations that

- flow from a modern sensibility
- draw upon sustainable design principles and technologies
- resolve each client's needs in a uniquely tailored project.

2M Architecture's distinctly personalized process resolves the building program, the site, and the economic context creating a one-of-a-kind residential or commercial structure. Using appropriate technology, natural light, space, and materials honestly, the firm creates balanced environments in which to live and work.

What sets this firm apart is that it approaches each project as a unique undertaking. Every member of the team is committed to superior quality, close attention to detail, personal involvement, on-time performance, and lasting value. Consider 2M Architecture for

- new construction and renovation
- residential and commercial
- interior design
- energy new-efficient/environmental "green" design.
